(495 characters with spaces)

After attending Berklee College, Todd Green performed as a jazz guitarist in NYC where, exposed to its diverse music scene, he developed an interest in World Music. Beginning with Bansuri flute and Indian Tabla drums, he later expanded into Persian, Arabic, Asian and Andean music. He has toured the USA and Canada as a "one-man-band" of World music since 1993. In 2001 he moved near the Bay Area for its many excellent native musicians from all these cultures, with whom he interacts regularly.
